Re: New Images Concrete Construction

The purpose of this letter is to share my experience in the relationship U.S. Concrete Precast Group has had with New Images Construction for well over decade here in Southern CA.

As a manufacturer of concrete products in Southern Ca. in several locations, we from time to time require concrete work for large production slabs as well as cast in place concrete structures to improve or upgrade our facilities. We have utilized New Images Const in these cases many times and have always found Don Vachon and his team to be of great service and value to us. Not only have they performed the work but they have been a part of the design and preplanning process that has resulted in overall cost savings and efficiencies in the finished project(s).

I have trusted New Images to the point of having several custom stamped concrete projects done at my personal residence. In those cases they have performed in the same manner described above and I will most certainly retain them for future projects should they arise.

In summary, I recommend New Images Construction to any owner or project manager seeking a contractor with a high level of quality and service. They have much to offer in their many talents and expertise. In addition you will find them to operate with a high level of commitment and integrity throughout the process.

Sincerely,
